2. [REDACTED] has only recently entered on duty with CIA and has been assigned new responsibilities which will require his current presence. There is no person available to assume his functions during a prolonged absence at this time for jury duty.

3. We realize that we must be in a position to release employees for jury duty and will be willing for [REDACTED] to serve at some future date. However, under present circumstances his release for jury duty would be ill-timed.
